Experience
Danielle received her bachelor's degree in Political Science with a minor in History from Florida Atlantic University. From there, Danielle went on to the nation's capital and received her Juris Doctor from The Catholic University of America, Columbus School of Law.

Before joining Taylor, Day, Grimm & Boyd, Danielle was a summer associate at a business transaction firm in Washington, D.C., and worked at the Columbus Community Legal Services as a Student-Attorney at the Families and the Law Clinic focusing on justice for victims of domestic violence. While in law school, she was a judicial extern for Judge Ryan T. Holte at the United States Court of Federal Claims. Danielle competed for, and served on the board of, the Moot Court Association, as well as acted as the Production Editor for the Catholic University Journal of Law and Technology.

When she is not working, Danielle enjoys reading, playing trivia, exploring Jacksonville, and spending time with her family, friends, and pets, Kona and Calvin.
